

THE CALIFORNIA COMMISSION ON DISABILITY ACCESS MAILING LIST REQUEST

The California Commission on Disability Access (CCDA) was created through the enactment of Senate Bill 1608 (Chapter 549, Statutes of 2008) whose role is that of a 17 member advisory body representing the Legislature, the business and disabled communities.

The mission of CCDA is to promote disability access in California through dialogue and collaboration with stakeholders including, but not limited to, the disability and business communities as well as all levels of government.

In order to achieve this mission, the CCDA is authorized by California Government Code Sections 14985-14985.11 to act as an information resource; to research and prepare advisory reports of findings to the Legislature on issues related to disability access, compliance inspections and continuing education; to increase coordination between stakeholders; to make recommendations to promote compliance with federal, and state laws and regulations; and to provide uniform information about programmatic and architectural disability access requirements to the stakeholders.
