RE: Change to Purchasing Authority Application Term

This broadcast announces a change in the Department of General Services, Procurement Division (DGS/PD) policy regarding the delegated purchasing authority term period and modifies Chapters 1 and 13 of the State Contracting Manual, Volume 2. Current policy states that purchasing authority will be granted for a 12-month term. However, effective January 1, 2010, purchasing authority delegation renewals (regardless of type or category) will begin transitioning toward a 24-month term. In an effort to ensure a balanced workload, DGS/PD will have a transitional period of 1-year in which some departments will receive a 12-month purchasing authority term and others will receive a 24-month purchasing authority term.

Departments selected for the 12-month transition term in 2010 must continue to submit the Purchasing Authority Application (PAA) by the required due date of their current purchasing authority term. Those departments that receive a 12-month term in 2010 will receive a 24-month term in the next Application cycle, until all departments have a 24-month purchasing authority term. Departments initially selected for a 24-month term in 2010 will be required to submit a Purchasing Authority Verification Form (PAVF) prior to their next purchasing authority renewal date. The PAVF form is a simple two-page form for updating certain information and for attesting to the department’s compliance with procurement laws and regulations. For clarification purposes, please find examples of a 12-month term and a 24-month term below:

- An example of a department selected for the 12-month term in 2010: If your current purchasing authority expires on January 31, 2010, you must submit a completed PAA to the Purchasing Authority Management Section (PAMS) by December 15, 2009. Upon approval of the PAA, your department’s purchasing authority will be extended to the 24-month term, and your department will then only be required to submit a completed PAVF by December 15, 2010. A PAA will not be required until December 15, 2011.
