RE: Telecommunications Acquisition Authority

This Broadcast Bulletin is to remind all departments that the California Technology Agency (CTA) is the agency responsible for acquisition of telecommunications goods and services. The transfer of telecommunications acquisition authority from the Department of General Services (DGS) to the CTA was completed by AB 2408 (Statutes of 2010), which was implemented as of February 1, 2012. Questions regarding telecommunications procurement authority should be directed to CTA. For more information about CTA's procurement authority for telecommunications, please reference Technology Letter 12-6.
